“ Gary and I did everything together. We rode to school together, we played baseball, and football together, we even joined the Marine Corps together. But the most important thing we did together was hang out almost every day together. I will miss Gary, he truly was my best friend.

“ Gary and I grew up in the neighborhood together. We spent a lot of our time playing baseball, wiffle ball, and many other outdoor games. On rainy summer days we would play monopoly in his parent's camper for hours and hours. He grew to be one of the best long ball hitters I ever played baseball with. I remember him hitting three home runs in one game when he was only 10 years old when we played for his Dad on the Sebago Moc little league team together. I'm sure he put more balls in the river over the left field fence at the Stevens Avenue baseball field for home runs more than anyone ever in Westbrook. I will always treasure having a friend like Gary to grow up with. R.I.P., my friend

“ Gary and I were teammates for three summers of Manchester Post baseball in Westbrook. I fell out of touch with Gary. However, thinking of him will always bring a smile to my face as he was a terrific guy, a great teammate and a true character. Gary had a big heart. He was constantly working on a goofy joke or coming at things from a funny angle and he hit the snot out of the baseball.

My sincere condolences to Gary's friends and family. Gary touched many lives. He touched mine.
