“ When I was staying at the Cochran home Todd was there already. He was so happy all the time. He would make me laugh. I live his zest of life. We would watch Fraggles Rock together. I learned a lot while I was there helping care for the kids there. RIP old friend. Be free

“ When people ask me who has made the greatest impression on my life Tod's name was always in the top 3. He taught me that no matter how long it has been since you have seen someone and no matter what has happened the true joy is being able to see them again . The look of love and excitement he would have for you when he saw you is how everyone should be made to feel. He was never angry at you or upset he just loved you and loved being with you. He taught me it's okay to have a gleam in your eye right before your going to cause a whole lot of trouble. For anyone who did not know him personally you missed out on one of the greatest people God ever created. For those of you who did know him you know you're going to receive that great big hug and smile of joy at seeing him again. I love you Tod

“ I knew Todd like family. He was a resident at the Cochran Home in South Portland. from the time he was a small child until several years ago when the home closed due to the passing of Bud Cochran. He considered all of them as his children and loved them unconditionally. Todd was always a part of everyones lives in the neighborhood that had children. Most all the neighborhood kids congregated at the house and you could not ignore Todd. He wouldnt let you. Watching from my house across the street he always gravitated to the hose if Bud had turned it on to wash the van or water flowers. Todd had the best time squirting people that walked by and he laughed when he did and so did anybody that went to get the hose away from him. When you got a hug from Todd , it was very sweet as he put his head on your shoulder at the same time. Rest in Peace Todd. We all loved you.

“ I had the privilege of working with Tod at the pool and swimming with him for several years. Tod loved his time in the pool and he became a good swimmer. His joy and enthusiasm for swimming could be seen as soon as he came out of the car, running to the door with his swim gear, taking our hand when he came out on deck and guiding us to the pool edge to get in. His smile and laughter were contagious. I will greatly miss the joy and enthusiasm he brought to the pool. My thoughts and prayers are with all of you.
